

Hey Chantell--

I'm super excited that you've signed on to volunteer. I'd like to touch base with you via phone as soon as possible, to get a sense of what you're interested in doing, and how we can work together.

The first thing you should do is join your State's Facebook page, and begin building a team in your area. Invite everyone you know to join the Facebook page --that way they will be up to date about the cool things Rock the Vote's doing in their area, even if they aren't an integral part of your team. You should also personally reach out to five friends you think would be excited about working on Rock the Vote's campaign with you.

Rock the Vote Street Teams are a collaborative endeavor: we want you to come up with creative ideas that excite you and that you can accomplish in your areas, as well as plug you into events we have going on in your state. Attached is a variety of materials that will help you get started thinking about a team in your area. The list includes:

Brainstorming list for actions your team could take*

Brainstorming list for events/venues in your area you think Rock the Vote should be at*

Email/Facebook message template to recruit people to Facebook page/Your Team*

Let me know a good time to talk, so we can talk about ideas, finding more team members, etc.

I look forward to working with you!!!

Always,

ace.
